

VOYAGER 2 AND URANUS...Collectors have depended on the Space City Cover Society for their commemorative space covers on other unmanned events and we are glad to make our offer for this historic "space spectacular" of Voyager 2 and its fly-by of Uranus. The closest approach of the spacecraft to the planet will be on January 24, 1986. Then on February 25, 1986 Voyager 2 will end its observations of the mysterious planet and then continue on with its journey to Neptune. For this, we offer a set of two covers cancelled at Pasadena, California, home of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory. One cover cancelled on January 24 and the other on February 25.

DOUBLE CANCEL...LAUNCH AND URANUS ENCOUNTER...This will be a scarce cover even before it is issued. The reason is that we had only a hand-full left of the uncanceled Voyager 2 launch cover. These are machine cancelled at Cape Canaveral on August 20, 1977 (launch date). We have added a 22¢ stamp and these covers will be hand cancelled at Pasadena, California on January 24, 1986 as Voyager 2 makes its fly-by of Uranus. Due to the very few that we will have, we will have to limit this (and in the same quantity) as the set of two of the January 24 and February 25 covers that you order.
