

In the 8 months since the tragedy of Challenger's 51-L mission, several astronauts have resigned, a few NASA officials have resigned, and even what one would call a reorganization of NASA has taken place.

In the early seventies, several of the important astronauts at that time resigned and the SCCS serviced commemorative covers for the events. We have not offered these since then and eight of these are illustrated here. If you were not with us then, these covers are now being offered and at less than the usual selling price of about $2.00 or so. You can check the illustrations and descriptions below and determine if you need any of these.
